

Availability

As a print-on-demand (PoD) publisher, we can guarantee the availability of all our publications for at least five years. We cooperate with the German National Library (Deutsche Nationalbibliothek, DNB) for online publications to ensure digital preservation. Each FAU University Press online publication receives a so-called persistent identifier. Hence, it can be accessed and cited for decades to come.

Rights

Authors assign the following rights to the FAU University Press:

- for electronic publications: a non-exclusive right of use under a Creative Commons license BY or BY-NC-ND;
- for print runs: a non-exclusive right of use for as long as the print edition is available.

This means that all authors retain their exclusive rights and can publish their work elsewhere in the format submitted to the FAU University Press or in another form.

Service

The FAU University Press offers advice and support to prospective authors. We assist you in optimizing your manuscript and cover design. You are also welcome to use our various templates. Of course, we are not just available by telephone and e-mail, but at your disposal for a face-to-face conversation about your manuscript.

Distribution

All prints are listed by the German National Library and are registered in the „Verzeichnis lieferbarer Bücher“ (German Books in Print). They can be obtained in bookshops, in online bookstores or directly from the FAU University Press.

All publications are also recorded in regional and national library catalogues.

About us

The university library manages the university-owned publishing house “FAU University Press” on behalf of the Friedrich-Alexander-Universität Erlangen-Nürnberg (FAU). The FAU University Press offers an attractive and economical way to publish your books – and your contact person is conveniently situated right at the FAU!

The FAU University Press is a young publisher, but with tradition. The university library has supervised the publication of academic books and book series for a number of decades – even before the FAU University Press was officially founded.

The FAU Executive Board established an academic advisory committee to foster the development and academic integrity of the FAU University Press. The Executive Board further included the FAU University Press in its Open Access Policy and in the General Doctoral Degree Regulations.

Product Lines

Our authors can publish books either in our series ‘FAU Forschungen’ and ‘FAU Studien’ or as an individual book outside of these regular series.

The ‘FAU Forschungen’ series encompasses research results of FAU scientists as well as doctoral dissertations that achieved the distinction ‘summa cum laude’. You can publish in ‘FAU Forschungen, Reihe A’ for research in the field of the socio-economic sciences and the humanities (SSH) or in ‘FAU Forschungen, Reihe B’ for the disciplines of science, technology and medicine (STM). The FAU University Press’ academic advisory committee decides whether to accept a dissertation into the ‘FAU Forschungen’.

The series ‘FAU Studien’ is subdivided into various series, which are usually associated with a particular department or faculty. To be published in ‘FAU Studien’ a doctoral dissertation or master thesis requires a recommendation by the student’s advisor as well as the approval of the series’ editors.

Forms of Publication

Publishing a book can be quite an expensive business, but it does not have to be.

The FAU University Press lets you publish online (“open access”) which minimizes publication costs, as no print edition is needed. The eBooks are DRM-free, which means that there are no access restrictions for prospective readers, such as limitations on saving, printing or copying. The document can be used on multiple devices absolutely free of charge. Your eBook is therefore readily accessible from outside the FAU campus network and can be found by search engines and their academic services such as Google Scholar. And all without any of the complicated registration or purchase processes (e.g., “pay-per-view”) used by commercial publishers.

The FAU University Press always provides an ‘open access’ online publication. There are, however, good arguments for publishing also a parallel print edition. Print editions are permanently accessible in regional and national libraries and are listed in sales catalogues and online bookshops. They also offer the opportunity to participate in the collecting society VG Wort dividends. Besides this, a presentable book can help to make a favorable impression when applying for an academic post.

Costs

An online publication is free of charge, with the exception of the publisher’s flat application fee of 20 Euro. For print copies, we only charge the actual printing and binding costs and a slightly higher flat fee of 60 Euro. We generally print small runs whose volume is agreed beforehand with the author.

This also allows us to keep the retail price low. Possible future reprints do not entail further costs for authors – they are financed by the bookstore price alone.

You have the possibility to receive printing subsidies via the grants of various foundations. Please contact department ‘H 2 - Körperschaftshaushalt, Stiftungen’ of the central university administration or the Graduate Centre for further details.
